

PROGRAMS AT BROOKDALE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Georgian Court University offers some bachelor's degree-completion programs at the Lincroft campus (<https://georgian.edu/hazlet/>) of Brookdale Community College. Georgian Court offers a B.A. in English, B.A. in Interdisciplinary Studies, and B.A. in Psychology. For students interested in education who meet GCU Department of Education admissions requirements, Georgian Court offers a B.A. in English, B.A. in Interdisciplinary Studies, or B.A. in Psychology, each with Elementary Education (K-6) and endorsement as a Teacher of Students with Disabilities. Students pursuing teacher certification at any location, including Lincroft and Lakewood, should be aware that teacher certification basically involves completing two sets of major program requirements: those of the liberal arts major and those of the teacher certification program. Therefore, an additional year of study is typically needed beyond that required for students who have only one major. All required Georgian Court courses are available online or in the late afternoon and evening in Lincroft, except for the final reflection course in teacher education programs, which is offered only in the evening on the Lakewood campus.

Students should apply to this program by completing the GCU application and following the Admissions Procedures for Transfer Students. Visit <http://www.georgian.edu/apply/> to apply.
