

GEOGRAPHY (GO)

---

G0281 Introduction to Geography (3 Credits)

Investigates the variables in basic resources in different parts of the world. A study of the cultural relationships to international economic and population patterns. Applicable to International Studies and Latin American Studies minors

G0285 Human Geography (3 Credits)

The course is designed to investigate specific ways that humans, as agents of change, have deliberately and accidentally modified the earth's surface. A key component will be to recognize the theoretical aspects of the discipline and apply them in contemporary local, regional, and global settings.