

PSYCHOLOGY, B.A./APPLIED BEHAVIOR ANALYSIS, M.A.

Advanced Admission to the Master of Arts in Applied Behavior Analysis

The Department of Psychology and Counseling offers select undergraduate students either majoring or minoring in psychology at Georgian Court University the opportunity to apply to the M.A. in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) program after completing 60 credits. For acceptance, students must:

- Have completed at least 12 credits of psychology coursework, including PS332 (Psychology of Learning) and PS333 (Introduction to ABA).
- Complete an Advanced Admission to the M.A. in ABA Application.
- Have an overall GPA of 3.5 or higher and 3.6 in psychology coursework with no more than two grades below a B-.
- Students outside the Psychology Scholars Program must provide a letter of recommendation from the Department of Psychology and Counseling faculty attesting to the ability of the student to succeed in the M.A. program. Students in the Psychology Scholars Program must provide an affidavit from the director of the Psychology Scholars Program attesting to their successful progress toward program requirements.
- Complete an interview with the director of the M.A. in ABA program.

Students meeting the above criteria may be accepted into the M.A. in ABA program without taking the Miller Analogies Test or Graduate Record Examination and may take as many as four graduate-level courses while they are still undergraduate students. Acceptance into the M.A. program is conditional upon continued performance at the same level as described above, and graduate coursework must be completed with grades of B- or better.
